

Körber receives “Best Biologics Digitalisation Award” at ABEA 2026 in Singapore

Lüneburg, Germany / Singapore, 12 March 2026 – The international technology group Körber has been honored with the “Best Biologics Digitalisation Award: Manufacturing Transformation Award” at the Asia Pacific Biopharma Excellence Awards (ABEA) 2026. The award was presented on 11 March 2026 in Singapore.

The recognition underscores Körber’s leadership in advancing digital transformation in biologics manufacturing and highlights its strong commitment to innovation and AI, operational excellence, and regulatory-compliant digital solutions across the Asia-Pacific biopharmaceutical industry.

At the core of this achievement is the latest version of Körber’s PAS-X Manufacturing Execution System – NextGen PAS-X MES – a web-based and scalable platform designed to support pharmaceutical and biotech manufacturers throughout the entire production lifecycle. The system combines an intuitive user experience with AI-powered assistance and advanced tools for streamlined deployment, real-time monitoring, and end to end lifecycle management.

“We are honored to receive this award, which we have consistently won every year since 2019,” says Oliver Weber, Senior Vice President Software, Körber Business Area Pharma. “This recognition reflects our ongoing commitment to helping biopharma manufacturers increase efficiency, transparency, and data integrity through advanced digital manufacturing technologies.”

“Across Asia-Pacific, we see biopharma manufacturers accelerating their digital transformation journey,” adds Ditha Nakmala, Managing Director Software Asia, Körber Business Area Pharma. “Our role is to combine Körber’s global MES innovations with strong regional expertise to help customers successfully implement digital manufacturing solutions that deliver measurable operational value.”

The award ceremony took place at the Sands Expo & Convention Centre in Singapore, bringing together senior executives and industry innovators from across the Asia-Pacific biopharma ecosystem.
