Jens Woehlbier assigned as new CEO of Werum IT Solutions

Lüneburg, Germany, 16 May 2019 – On 15 April 2019 Jens Woehlbier started as new Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Werum IT Solutions. He succeeds Rüdiger Schlierenkämper who has worked for Werum in managerial positions since 2000 and will retire at the end of June 2019.

Before joining Werum, Jens Woehlbier worked for more than 20 years in various management positions at the management consultancy Accenture where he was responsible for IT transformation projects of industry customers. Most recently, he was Head of Front Office Digitization and Automotive managing the global technology portfolios of several Accenture key accounts and taking care of their digital transformation.

“As a profound IT and digitization specialist, Jens Woehlbier is a perfect match for Werum,” says Jörn Gossé, CEO at Körber Medipak Systems. “He will actively drive forward the further development of Werum's product portfolio realizing the Factory of the Future of our pharma and biotech customers.”

At the same time, Jörn Gossé thanks Rüdiger Schlierenkämper for his successful work and his commitment: “Rüdiger Schlierenkämper has had a strong influence on the internationalization of Werum and the great success of the company as the global market leader for pharma and biotech Manufacturing Execution Systems (MES).”
